HER EYES TROUBLED HER. The Lady Finds Difficulty in Making the Occulist Understand Why.

The woman was far from composed when she entered the oculist's office. During the ten minutes she had to wait she grew very ill at ease.

"Oh, doctor," she exclaimed, with an effort to be calm, "my eyes are making me miserable."

The man of science bowed. "How do those lines look to you," he asked.

"He pointed to a chart on the wall. "Er—ah—m—well—"

The woman was obviously scared. "They seem all right—or—that is—"

The oculist was surprised. "Don't they look a little blurred?" he inquired.

The woman seemed to experience relief at once. "Yes, yes," she hurriedly declared; "they're awfully blurred, come to notice closely."

The doctor wrote a few words on a piece of paper. "Which are more blurred, the vertical or horizontal lines?" he quietly asked.

"The—ah—er—well—they are about alike."

She was getting pretty red in the face, manifestly by reason of inward perturbation.

"Don't!" The oculist knit his brows in perplexity. "The vertical lines appear more distinct?"

"Why to be sure. Of course they do. Yes, much more distinct."

Her voice was trembling noticeably. "What is the character of the indistinctness?"

It was the final straw. Overwrought nature succumbed. "Oh, doctor, doctor, don't ask!"

She rose from her seat in confusion. "—me. I'll confess, I must confess. There's nothing the matter with my eyes. Nothing at all. But—"

The sudden solemnity in her face betokened a deep and poignant regret. "I would so love to have one of those beautiful shell handled tortoisettes."

The oculist was not of the stern sort of men and he ventured no word of reproach.—Detroit Tribune.

He Had a Limit. The dupe was visiting the penitentiary accompanied by an official and a newspaper man, and the party were talking to one of the prisoners.

"Have a cigarette," said the dupe as they were about to depart, offering him a package.

"Much obliged," responded the prisoner, shaking his head. "Two stole horses and robbed chicken roosts and broke into houses and killed a man or two and had four or five wives and made counterfeit money, but I never smoked cigarettes, and heaven help me I never will. So long," and the cell door went to with a bang as pronounced as the one the dupe wore in his hair.—Detroit Free Press.

There is no sweetness in a kiss, Unless your teeth are just like pearls, Then you would share its trembling bliss.

Use SOZODON! at once, dear girls; For it alone gives to the mouth White teeth and fragrance of the South.

Big Catch of Game. The display of game in front of Detenthaler's yesterday was the finest yet shown in the city for the season.

It comprised venison and feathered game of all kinds. Mr. Detenthaler is known among hunters and fishermen all over the state as a liberal merchant, and whenever anything choice is secured it is sure to find its way into his market.

At the present time his market is well stocked with everything that goes to make up a first-class fish and game market. His stock of fish, every day fresh from adjacent lakes and streams, comprises every variety obtainable in the metropolitan markets. Spring chickens and ducks are always on hand, as are also all the delicacies of the sea and shore.

Detenthaler is agent for the famous Anchor brand of oysters, one of the best known brands in the market. He keeps a stock sufficient to supply the local demand and does an extensive jobbing trade. He makes a specialty of supplying large orders and enjoys a reputation the state over as having the best equipped game and fish market in Central Michigan.

Oysters and fish in all varieties daily at Biven & Allyn's, 106 Canal street.

DOES BABY SLEEP WELL

Mothers at This Season Too Often Say No.

Wakefulness Frequently a Precursor of Serious Illness.

Way to Make the Infant Rest All Night and Wake Up Laughing.

Sleeplessness is often the precursor of very serious illness in a child. And no better evidence can be offered of the superiority of lactated food than the many instances in which fretful, peevish, sleepless babies, as soon as put upon it, "sleep all night and wake up laughing."

A baby cannot sleep when hungry, and whenever the mother's milk or other food is of poor quality, the child becomes cross and does not sleep well. Lactated food is better than such milk for any infant. It is the most perfect substitute for nature's purest food. The happy change that occurs when the fretful infant begins to be fed on lactated food is so clearly and so surely superior to the ordinary nursing and satisfying qualities of its new diet. Too many mothers at this season are starving their infants and don't know it. Mrs. M. C. Wyant of Seymour, Conn., narrates her experience: "Last January my daughter-in-law died, leaving a baby one week old. I gave the baby the best of care of it since and I never had a night's rest for six months. I used four different kinds of food. Nothing would stay on its stomach and it cried almost constantly. Finally, when he had cholera infantum, I sent for a package of lactated food and tried it. It got better immediately, and now sleeps all night, and is the best little fellow I ever saw."

When I commenced using lactated food," writes Mrs. Margaret Boyce of No. 149 Armory street, Springfield, Mass., a picture of whose child appears above, "I did not think my baby boy could live. The physicians said the child was starving, and that his food did not nourish him. We used lactated food, and now he is healthy and strong. I feel that not only his health, but his life is due to this food."

Such testimonials as these might be multiplied by the hundred. Lactated food may be had of any druggist. A package that costs a dollar is enough to make 150 meals for a growing infant, and for twenty-five cents enough can be bought to make ten pints of food.

Suggestions for a Summer Trip. If you wish to take the trip of a lifetime, purchase the low rate excursion tickets sold by all principal lines in the United States and Canada via the Northern Pacific railroad to Yellowstone National Park, Pacific coast and Alaska.

The trip is made with the highest degree of comfort in the elegant vestibule trains of the Northern Pacific railroad, which carry dining cars and luxurious Pullman sleeping cars from Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis to Montana and the Pacific coast, without change and without a single transfer from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Yellowstone Park.

The scenery en route is the most magnificent to be found in the seven states through which the road passes. Beautiful mountains, rivers, valleys, lakes and plains follow each other in rapid succession to delight the tourist who will also find interest in the agricultural, mining, lumbering, industrial and other interests associated with the development of the great northwest.

The crowning glory of the trip through the northwest, however, is the visit to the national parks, the land of hot springs, geysers and gorgeous canyons, and to Alaska, with its endless ocean channels, snowcapped peaks, Indian villages and giant glaciers.

If you wish to investigate this suggestion further send to Charles S. Fee, general passenger agent, N. P. R. R., St. Paul, Minn., for copies of the handsomely illustrated "Wonderland" book, Yellowstone Park and Alaska folders.

Bookkeepers. Please remember that Barlow Brothers have moved and are now ready for business at No. 5 and 7 Pearl street (one light). Look up your orders for blank books and give us a chance to figure. Telephone 179, two rings.

Doctors disagree. They have to. There are differences of opinion among the best; there will be so long as knowledge is incomplete.

But there is one subject on which all physicians are completely in accord, and that is the value of cod-liver oil in consumption and scrofula, and many other conditions in which the loss of fat is involved. And cod-liver oil has its greatest usefulness in Scott's Emulsion. There is an interesting book on the subject; sent free.
